What is the survey?
The recreational fishing survey identifies:
• the number of people who fish
• where and when fishers go
• key target species
• catch rates
• how much effort, money and time people spend fishing.

Why now?
The last Northern Territory-wide recreational fishing survey took place in 2009-10, and it’s time to update our data to help maintain and improve the quality of recreational fishing. The information collected through the survey is vital for the sustainable management of our fish stocks, so if you are contacted by the survey team please take part.

How does it work?
You could be contacted in two different ways to have your say!

By phone
Thousands of interviews will be conducted using randomly selected telephone numbers.

In person
Survey interviewers will be working at boat ramps around the Northern Territory to ask a few quick questions about your day fishing. The survey takes only a few minutes to complete and interviewers are clearly recognisable by their shirts and identification cards.

For more information, visit www.dpir.nt.gov.au